

Suitably downcast House Of Love mourn their single's demise/

● THE HOUSE OF LOVE's forthcoming single 'Safe' due out on Creation to coincide with their UK tour, has been shelved for the time being.

The track, produced by Daniel Miller should have seen the light of day in mid-October. But it's been withdrawn from Creation's schedules while the band decide on their future.

The group are still receiving offers from major labels. It is likely they will decide on who to sign with within the next few weeks.