The House Of Love

Live At The Lexington 13.11.13

Acclaimed indie rock band The House Of Love have announced details of their first-ever live album. Presented as a unique CD-DVD package, Live At The Lexington 13.11.13 will be released via Cherry Red on Monday 1st December 2014.

Having initially re-formed for warmly received album Days Run Away in 2005, founder members Guy Chadwick and Terry Bickers reconvened with Pete Evans and Matt Jury for 2013's well-received new studio album, She Paints Words In Red.

Live At The Lexington was recorded across the second of two sell-out nights at the noted North London venue in November 2013. Now captured as both a CD and equivalent DVD, the album offers fresh interpretations of the band's tried-and-tested classics ('Christine', 'I Don't Know Why I Love You', 'Destroy The Heart', 'Shine On') alongside several tracks from their debut album as well as their most recent LP.

CD and DVD track listing:

1. Destroy The Heart
2. Hope
3. Christine
4. Se Dest
5. Road
6. The Beatles And The Stones
7. Purple Killer Rose
8. Phone

The House Of Love formed in 1986 in Camberwell, South London and released their first single, Shine On, on Creation Records in May 1987. Their massively acclaimed debut album was unveiled in June 1988 and was re-released in 2012 by Cherry Red as a 3-CD version.

After they signed to Fontana in 1989, original guitarist Terry Bickers was replaced by Simon Walker. The House Of Love made three albums for the label: 'The Butterfly Album' (1990), Babe Rainbow (1992) and Audience With The Mind (1993), before they eventually disbanded in late 1993.

The House Of Love are available for interview.
The DVD content of this release is available to stream on request.
We've also got plenty of lovely colour pictures.
